Anything you want me to know about you?:

You need to read this commitment paragraph and both you and your parents need to sign it:

I understand that by signing up for this class I am committing to be on time, and present for every class (unless an emergency comes up. Please have your parent contact me if you know of a date you will not be able to attend). I understand that being absent will cause a delay for everyone as we will have to re-teach music or choreography that I missed. I understand that all emails contain important information and that neglecting to thoroughly read them may result in miscommunication and misinformation. I understand that I need to listen to my music and memorize monologues/music/choreography for class and that I will do so and be prepared for class. I understand that if I come unprepared for class everyone in the class will be delayed in moving forward. I understand that I need to be respectful to my teacher, the other students, and the teacher helpers. I understand that some activities we do in class will be hard for me, but that I will try them anyway. I realize that as we work together in class and then take our production into the community that I am representing not just myself but my family and Voices of Joy.
